AP Governor appeals to Muslim brethren to stay indoors and pray at home during Ramzan

Vijayawada, April 23: While extending greetings to Muslim brethren in the state on the occasion of beginning of the Holy Month of Ramzan, Andhra Pradesh Governor Sri Biswa Bhusan Harichandan appealed to all the people of the community to stay indoors and offer prayers at home during the Holy Month of Ramzan. Governor Sri Harichandan said right now the country is passing through a difficult phase and people of all communities should cooperate with the authorities in curbing the spread of corona virus pandemic. The Governor said the Centre and State Governments are taking all measures to contain the spread of the Covid-19 pandemic, which has affected entire population in the world. He said that success in the fight against corona virus can be achieved with the active cooperation of the people belonging to all religions, caste, sects etc. Governor said that Pluralism is an integral part of Indian society and essential element of Indian culture and historically all people belonging to different religions, come together and work in unity to fight a common challenge. The Governor appealed to the people that COVID 19 is presently the biggest challenge faced by the mankind and it is time for everyone to come together and follow the necessity of physical distancing in all our social and religious engagements. All Muslim brothers and sisters should stay at home and pray to the Almighty to give us the strength to bring the world back to normalcy, said the Governor.
